

Are we the one for you?

Cambodia

Global Service Corps
STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS
Fall 2015

Tanzania

Youth Life & Leadership Skills
Global Public Health
Buddhist Immersion

Sustainable Agriculture
HIV/AIDS Prevention
Nutrition

"I highly recommend the truly unique and always highly rated Global Service Corps semester length service learning programs in Tanzania and Cambodia. The variety and high quality of the urban and rural living experiences, the academic component and the opportunity to work closely with community development professionals make this one of the best semester programs offered by the University at Albany, SUNY."

- Jim Pasquill, Director of Study Abroad and Exchanges, UAlbany, SUNY

Let's talk frankly here for a second.

In today's increasingly connected world, spending time abroad is crucial for building a marketable skill set. Every college student and recent grad knows that applying for a job or grad school is tough. When it comes down to the wire, studying and serving abroad can make the difference between "we regret to inform you" and "congratulations!"

As an integrated component of your education, studying abroad provides you with intercultural skills and a global perspective. Combining that with serving abroad grants you invaluable hands-on experience in a developing country that can't be learned in a classroom.

Your educational experience is yours to shape. Make sure it's everything you hoped it would be.

GSC volunteer Andi farms with Maasai women.

Global Service Corps' Service-Learning Semester Program

Besides having more than two decades of experience conducting volunteer programs abroad, we are one of few organizations who are singularly dedicated to the "service" component of overseas programs. In fact, we insist that service and culture immersion come first. This ensures that our work is needed and makes a lasting impact on the communities we serve.

By hosting our programs in developing countries, we provide our participants with an authentic community development experience in a structured and supervised manner. We're working to tackle some of the world's toughest problems, and this requires dedication, flexibility and endless optimism.

If you're up for the challenge and ready to make a difference, we'll make a great fit.

Cambodia

GSC volunteer Anna teaching basic English lessons to Khmer monks.

In the Cambodia fall semester program, you'll not only learn and work alongside local professionals, but also share your skills with those who truly benefit from them.

As a student, you'll have the unique opportunity to assist with the community services that GSC provides in Cambodia. Your participation in the program may include the following: Emotional intelligence and life skills training to upcoming youth leaders; public health work serving slum communities; teaching basic English lessons; providing psychosocial support to orphans affected by HIV/AIDS and a peaceful week of Buddhist immersion at a local monastery.

Tanzania

GSC volunteer participant Matt with new friends in Arusha.

In the Tanzania fall semester program, you'll have the opportunity to learn and serve while getting your hands dirty - both literally and figuratively. With this program, you'll supplement academic lectures and learning assignments with hands-on field work. You'll help lead rural training sessions in the areas of sustainable agriculture and food security, nutrition and HIV/AIDS prevention.

GSC's Sustainable Agriculture Program is one of few programs that offers volunteers the opportunity to assist local home farmers with building sustainable gardens and water harvesting systems.

GSC combines these sustainable agriculture initiatives with nutrition education and HIV/AIDS prevention in a holistic public health program. Our work with rural Tanzanian communities has been recognized and supported by the USAID, the USDA, Africare, FINTRAC and other prominent international development organizations.

GSC volunteers Kelly, Anna and Aiyanna giving a presentation on consent and self-image to at-risk Cambodian girls.

Both Programs

GSC's semester programs include:

- One week of in-country orientation and technical training
- Basic language lessons - Khmer for the Cambodia program and Swahili for the Tanzania program
- An introduction to local culture and customs
- A local excursion adventure (a weekend trip to Siem Reap and Angkor Wat in Cambodia or a Tanzanian safari)
- Monday through Friday education and service-learning, with free weekends and a one-week semester break
- A true cultural immersion experience, including homestays

GSC's 15-credit fall semester study abroad programs run for 15 weeks, from September 7th, 2015 to December 20th, 2015. Credit is available through the University at Albany, SUNY or can be arranged through your own institution. For pricing and more information, check out our Students page.

Space is limited, so start your application today!

You can support GSC's many ongoing projects by giving a tax-deductible donation:

DONATE NOW

Contact us: gsc@globalservicecorps.org | 503-954-1659

Global Service Corps, 1306 NW Hoyt #310, Portland, OR 97209

Unsubscribe | Privacy policy

