Are you looking for a study abroad program that's a bit outside of the box? Wouldn't you rather have a more hands-on experience rather than sitting in a classroom all day, when you could be exploring life in a different culture than your own? Do you want to help serve communities in need while also learning about a new culture? If your answer is YES, then a Global Service Corps (GSC) service-learning program could be perfect for you!

GSC offers students the opportunity to combine academic work, cultural immersion, and internship experiences working alongside GSC Cambodian NGO partners and other local community development professionals. GSC will work with your college program or advisor to provide service-learning programs for credit in the following areas:

- 12-15-credit Fall or Spring Semester Program
- 9-credit Summer Program
- Internship and Independent Study Program

Research shows many benefits to studying abroad, including increased job prospects after college, the development of leadership skills, and an increase in social and global awareness. GSC's study abroad programs offer the same benefits as the more traditional programs, with some added benefits, including:

- In-Country Orientation and Training, including basic Khmer language lessons
- The opportunity to work with local NGO's (non-government organizations) and other community organizations
- An in-depth cultural immersion experience
- Weekend tours to historic landmarks and rural areas rarely visited by tourists
- The opportunity to both serve and learn and be more than just a student-observer in another country
- Field experience opportunities tailored more to your individual skills and interests, including: Global Public Health, Child and Orphan Care, Teaching English, Community Development and Leadership Training, and Buddhist Immersion/Teaching English. You can also combine two or more programs for an Integrated Program.
